CattleWomen Busy Promoting Beef While Giving Back To Communities

There's no grass growing under the South Texas CattleWomen's boots. STCW proudly promotes the beef industry at various events throughout South Texas. Whether at a private gathering of troops at a local ranch or the local HEB Grocery Store promoting beef for Father's Day, these ladies (and gentlemen) know their business. They don't mind sharing with you the value of a nutritious meal that includes beef.

But STCW is more than that. They are a hardworking group that relies completely on the kindness of others. Every dime STCW raises is returned to South Texas communities. They provide what they call "Beef Certificates" to various South Texas children's homes. These certificates may be used at any grocery or meat market for the purchase of beef, and only beef. This has made a difference in many children's lives. It has eased budget constraints at the homes so more money can be spent on fruits and vegetables.

STCW has been actively participating in the All American Beef Battalion "Steaks For Troops" program for many years. They not only contribute dollars for the purchase of steaks, but have served the troops many times.

On a more local front, STCW participate in local County Ag Days across the south Texas area each spring. STCW along with other local agriculture related groups present programs elementary students demonstrating how agriculture touches their daily lives.

At the moment STCW is preparing for their annual fundraiser Spikes 'n Spurs. This event will be held on May 12, 2018 at the Briscoe Western Heritage Museum, San Antonio, Texas. Proceeds will be going directly to south Texas children's homes. Nothing will be held back! One Hundred percent of all monies raised will benefit children. They are currently seeking Underwriters for the event. If you are interested in this Underwriting Opportunity or wish to make a donation to the event, you can send an email to spikesandspurs@att.net.
